HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

1. Never Trick-or-Treat alone. Go with a friend or in a group, and bring along an adult.

2. Never wear masks that block your view. Decorate your costume with reflective tape.

3. Never talk to strangers. Tell your parents about anyone who is bothering you!

4. Wait until you get home before eating your treats. Throw out unwrapped candy.

Six straight wins for boys

By Jim Tilton
Coach

Elk Point High School Boys volleyball team took six straight with easy victories over Vilna and Mallaig last week.

Their play was consistent and they managed to run a few higher level plays. This makes for a more interesting game, as the spectators can try to anticipate who is going to hit the ball and see if the other team gets confused. If the play is executed properly, as these were, the player who hits the ball has no one blocking him and he can try to hit it to the floor.

This week we are in Mallaig again and our next home game is November 7.

Have A Safe And Happy Halloween

Cst. Doug Huskins of Elk Point RCMP showed these two small Trick-or-Treaters a way to be safer during their Halloween rounds. The Popple at left sports a fluorescent safety band around its floppy ears, while the little leopard wears the band as a bracelet. The glowing bands will make the children more visible to motorists during the early evening hours, and are available both at the RCMP Office and from RCMP officers on patrol this evening.

Council preparing for winter, but looking ahead to spring

Elk Point Town Council is not only preparing for winter, they are already looking ahead to spring projects. Some of each type of project were on Monday night's agenda, which contained discussions of everything from library system legalities to skunk eradication.

Although it comes somewhat late for this year, a final draft of the fairgrounds development agreement with the Elk Point Agricultural Society is now set for presentation to that group for their review and comments. Only a small amount of polishing was needed to gain Council's approval of the document, which goes right to the final details of fencing and tree planting for the project.

Swimming pools are also a somewhat out-of-season topic, but Council will be ready for spring, having looked into their bylaws and found that one is already in place, containing the regulations of the Alberta Uniform Building Standards Act, which clearly outlines the requirements for fencing and securing such pools. Council agreed to review the bylaw further at their next meeting, after all members have had a chance to become familiar with its contents.

A request for funding for a strategic plan for tourism product development in northern Alberta got little enthusiasm from Council, who still want answers to their earlier questions regarding concerns with the project.

Council discussed at some length the legal opinions they had obtained regarding the Northern Lights Library System agreement, and discussed with Councillor Adele Mandryk the matters which may be discussed at the meeting of that body which she will attend November 3.

Councillor Mandryk also reported on the Mural Park Committee, which has been tucked away for the winter after their final meeting of the season last week. Chairperson and project coordinator Sheila Thompson has tendered her resignation, and has been temporarily replaced by Irene Miller. The landscaping has been largely completed, except for flowerbed work which remains to be done in the spring. Alberta Public Works engineer Tom O'Neil has examined the bridge, and suggested taking elevations to make sure it does not shift over winter, as well as reinforcing the handrails. The bridge has been stained, with material and labor provided by Sheila Thompson and Jim Hawkins, and the low fence is now in place around the mural. Gail Kozicky is working on signage, and a donation has been made for a suitable memorial to Mary Bennett, one of the original members of the committee.

Two delegations visited Council, both finding the Town's pockets too shallow to provide the funding they requested.

Volunteer Fire Department Chief Bill Marceuiuk reported that the Department had heard of a used cube van, similar to the model for which the Town has tried unsuccessfully to obtain federal grant funding, which might be purchased at auction for approximately $15,000, or about $9000 more than the Fire-fighters Association has saved up toward the purchase. Since the $2400 the Town had offered at one point toward the new van would have come from the sale of the existing Town owned rescue van, these funds are not readily available, and funds in the Fire Department budget have been used up.

The Elk Point Curling Club did slightly better, obtaining a one-time grant from the Town for 10 percent of their estimated $11,000 utility bills for the coming year, to help defray the mounting expenses of operating the curling rink, which has also suffered from a decline in membership during the past few years. The grant is conditional on the club operating during the 1990-91 season. A $1000 CRC grant was allocated to the club by the Town earlier in the year. Approximately 75 percent of the club's membership is made up of town residents.

The drainage survey is well underway, with pipes having been scrutinized by camera. Soil testing is now scheduled to be done, and a preliminary design should be ready by Council's next meeting, along with suggestions for the most cost effective means of doing the work.

Recent well drilling efforts at the Rec Land were unsuccessful, but the driller who did the work had indicated that it is not unusual for a water diver to find indications of water where there is actually only a metallic content in underground gravel or mineral deposits from underground streams that are no longer there.

Elk Point will be represented at a meeting of northeastern Alberta Municipal Officials on November 9 in Lac La Biche, with Administrator Pat Vincent to be accompanied by members of Council and/or the Tourism Action Committee, where matters of mutual interest and concern will be discussed.

Elk Point Fair Board winds up the season

By Irene Magnusson

The wind-up supper meeting of the Elk Point and District Agriculture Society Fair Board, October 15, was attended by some eighteen persons, in the Empress dining room. Verona Lea Flanders, chairman, following reading of the minutes by secretary Sharon Kuhn, reported that entries were up this year, for a total of 1103 entries, offered by 98 exhibitors.

Prizes awarded totaled $1335.50, up considerably from the previous year, this not including Aggregate winners. A total of 277 persons attended the August 10-11 Fair.

Each Convenor reported his/her Section, with suggestions for additions or omissions. Many Sections reported all went well, and required little or no changes. Those suggested were noted, and will appear in the new Fair Book, which will be available to exhibitors in the new year.

Exhibitors are urged to keep their last Fair Book, for reference, as most items will not be changed, as this could help in deciding entries for next season. Very few rules will have changed. A few items will be added, a few cut, but overall, the requirements are very similar.

Grace Barwick, convenor of the Seniors Section for some years, wishes to retire from this task, and is looking for a replacement; John Bennett, who has looked after the Grains and Hays section for some time, also wishes to be replaced, while Ivy Dunlap, convenor of the Flower section in the past, has moved away, so must be replaced. Anyone interested in assuming these roles could contact Verona Lea Flanders, or any Board member.

The Junior sections, as well as Photography, received an excellent number of entries; there will be some additions or changes in these. For photographers, the "Meet the Challenge" word for 1991 is "joy"; so be prepared! The Creative Writing section has never been overloaded with entries, but the few extra this year have saved it from being dropped, a fate we would not like to see occur.

Grains and Hays is not a heavily-entered class, either, but few realize the amount of work required to prepare a suitable entry, yet is so very worthwhile, in this agricultural area. The Fair Board hopes more entries will be forthcoming in the future.

Next year's Fair will be held August 9-10, 1991. See you there.

Be Careful Out There!

Cst. Dave Kilby and Sgt. Barry Kutryk display the "mobile billboard" which has been in evidence at CHECKSTOPS in the area during recent weeks. The Elk Point RCMP are part of the provincial program to reduce impaired driving and therefore save lives.

Checkstops save lives

It's the last thing a motorist might want to see in the late hours of evening, but it could be the very item which would save that person's life, and the lives of others besides. It is a RCMP CHECKSTOP.

One major CHECKSTOP had taken place in this area during recent weeks, and another was scheduled before the end of the month, Sergeant Barry Kutryk said last week. Smaller CHECKSTOP operations occur several times a week, usually late at night and often in areas quite a distance from Elk Point. The object of the CHECKSTOPS is to detect impaired driving offences in progress, while a secondary purpose is to advise the public about the hazards of drinking and driving.

The big white van which has been much in evidence at the Elk Point Detachment's office serves as a "mobile billboard," to remind the public about the CHECKSTOP program, Sgt. Kutryk said. The van moves to each of the seven detachments in the St. Paul Subdivision for a month long stay, "but the CHECKSTOPS go on whether the van is here or in Lac La Biche or Smoky Lake."

CHECKSTOP is nothing new. The program started in 1973, under the auspices of Alberta's Solicitor General. The vans, however, are a new addition to the program, with 10 in use by municipal police forces and 8 by the RCMP across the province. As well as being used in the CHECKSTOPS themselves, the vans visit shopping malls, schools, exhibitions and fairs to remind the public of the hazards of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The CHECKSTOP program is also advertised by the use of billboard and advertising campaigns, as well as overpass banners and bus signs in the larger cities. Portable displays have been created and are used at fairs, in shopping malls, in schools and at community awareness gatherings.

Along with CHECKSTOP itself, the Solicitor General's Department has an impaired driving video which is shown to new drivers.

The purpose of these measures is not, as it might seem to some, to spoil anyone's good time. Instead, it is to keep the motorist and the motorist's passengers from having their good times come to an end forever.

The class would be offered during the day and would be suitable for anyone, whether they have done aerobics before or not. Doctor crisis over

After more than two months as Elk Point's sole physician, Dr. Keith McNeilly will finally have time to sit down and take a breath. With the arrival of Dr. Drew Ramful this week, the nerve-wracking situation of being the only doctor available will be at an end. There is no question that Dr. McNeilly handled the situation capably and admirably, but it is really asking a great deal of anyone to be on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for weeks at a time, and no doubt he is relieved to have this trying period end.

Dr. Ramful's arrival brings us back to the two doctor level that we were at before the departure of Dr. Frank Estey, a level which we had had for several years in spite of continued efforts to find a third physician. That goal will finally become a reality in just over a month, when Dr. Pelland joins the medical community. Further additions are quite possible, and we may end up with four or more doctors by spring.

Some grumblers have suggested that this would be too many doctors. Those who have waited in the outpatients' department for hours on end would disagree, as would anyone who has had to go to another town to get an office appointment without several weeks advance notice. Others have just simply resigned themselves to the situation, and put off going for routine checkups, feeling that someone else needed the very scarce amount of doctors' time worse than they.

Now, perhaps, the fine medical care facility we have will be able to reach its potential, with several capable physicians to look after the needs of our community. It may seem like a downpour, but the medical drought is over.

What's news at the Library?

The library was really hopping Friday morning when 35 costumed children attended the storytime Halloween Party. The program started with a "Safe Halloween" talk by Doug Huskins of the local RCMP Detachment. He gave the children luminous safety strips to wear on their costumes on Halloween night so motorists will be able to see them. Halloween stories and the puppet show, "Lulu and the Witch Baby" were presented. Follow The Witch was played and cookies and juice were served. Halloween treats were distributed as the children left.

The staff would like to thank Deborah Lind for helping with the puppet show, Terry Shankowski, Maureen Wilson and Carolina Mayner for supplying the cookies and all the mothers who pitched in to help.

Mark your calendars for November 14! Janet Foster, author and wildlife photographer from Ontario, will be visiting the library at 7:30 p.m.

"Reading: A Lifelong Adventure" is the theme of Canadian Children's Book Week, November 3 to 10. The Elk Point Public Library is sponsoring a visit of Calgary author Marjorie Holland for grades 4 to 6 in the Elementary School on November 8. Champions, her story of a courageous and determined girl and appealing dogs, is a book for the whole family. I loved it!

NEW BOOKS:

Longshot—a new novel by British author Dick Francis, is now in the library. This is another exciting mystery involving people of the horse racing world.

The Plains Of Passage by Jean M. Auel—Ayla, the heroine first introduced in The Clan Of The Cave Bear, is known and loved by millions of readers. Now, in this Earth's Plain series, Ayla's story continues. Ayla and Jondalar set out on horseback across the windswept grasslands of Ice Age Europe to begin their adventure of discovery, danger and love.

Wingless Bird by Catherine Cookson—Agnes Conways's humdrum life is transformed by the influence of Charles and Reginald Farriers, each able in their different ways to nourish and sustain her spirit.

The Black Swan by Philippa Carr (who is also Victoria Holt)—Whem Lucie Landson's father, Benedict, is assassinated in front of his London home, young Lucie is the only witness. Her testimony leads to the arrest, conviction and subsequent hanging of an Irish terrorist and Lucie believes the trauma is over. Little does she know that what she has seen will follow her throughout her life.

Trick or Treat ...

We all love the spooky-ness of Halloween — the cats'n'bats, the witches and brooms.

More Halloween lore

By Irene Magnusson

So much has been written and told on the beginnings of the great Halloween legends, I hesitate to add any more. Still-I have found, in another book filled with facts on the origins of many things, a slightly differing story on when and where this night of spooks and witches first was observed.

In my new book, all blame is centered on the Irish. Wa-a-a-y back, in the 5th century B.C., when the ancient Celts inhabited the moors and uplands of 'green isle', and possibly even before the leprechauns arrived, the Celts of Ireland declared the 31st of October (as it later became known) as the last day of summer, and as All Hallows Eve. (A hallow being the spirit of the dead.)

Now what would these 'Hallows'; in particular those who had died during the past year; do but come back to their homes and try to exchange their dead ghostly bodies for new ones, fancying those of relatives and friends. And no one really wanted to trade.

So to discourage these trades, folks would put out all fires in their homes, and leave them in the dark, making them as unattractive as possible, so the 'hallows' wouldn't come into them. Mean, eh?

Then, to make their own 'live' bodies as undesirable as possible, the family members dressed themselves up as witches, devils, hobgoblins and the like, stomping around first inside the houses, then outside, with lots of bloodcurdling screeches and shrieks, breaking and smashing and thumping around, jangling chains and bells and any noisy things they could find to scare off the ghosts, who had come calling.

(By the way, a person has been 'hallowed' if he has been blessed, or sanctified, as usually occurs when one dies.)

The final ritual was a wild parade through town, out to the giant bonfire, which was lighted on the outskirts. If any luckless halfwit or other odd-appearing person happened to fall into the hands of these paraders, they could assume he or she had already been inhabited by these body-searching spooks, so the crowd would take him or her along and burn them in the fire, just to warn off any other spirits hanging around looking for a body to latch on to.

Now why we, in the 20th century, should be still celebrating anything so weird, I cannot say. But we do. Oh, the practices have changed over the centuries, but the day is still marked. And probably no better reason has come up, over the centuries.

Customs have changed. Human burnings have faded out of fashion. The early Romans, after inhabiting the British Isles, substituted effigies, burying them, as the Egyptians once did along with their pharaohs. The Irish customs wandered over the border into England, where Druids adopted similar customs. Later, when the Irish immigrated in droves to America, following the great potato famine of 1840, they brought their favorite night of the year customs along with them.

It is said that the favorite mischievous activities of the early American night-prowlers was tipping over outhouses and unhinging gates, and that was the favorite pastime of Halloween hoodlums in the days of my youth, also, so it was a practice that wore well. What with general indoor plumbing, at least one of those well-loved activities has almost vanished. I suppose gates still get the treatment, though.

The fun part of the evening, that of dressing in wild and wonderful costumes, has not diminished, but rather has flourished, and youngsters are able to con their parents into some very foxy fancywear to deck their frames on All Hallow's Eve. Of course, if adults go out a-partying and it's a fancy dress affair, there will be quite a few striking getups there, too. And everyone tries to disguise his/her face, with mask or paint.

The "Trick or Treat" part of this spookiest night of the year has some even more weird beginnings. Back a thousand years or so, there was a practice called "souling". On All Souls Day (is that the same as All Saints' Day?) Christians wandered from town to town, begging for 'soul cakes', little square biscuits with currants. In exchange for these, the beggars promised to pray for the dead relatives of those who gave, and the more cakes, the more prayers. Since the dead were supposed to go to limbo, there to linger until a set number of prayers had been delivered, there was a practical purpose to the families of the dead to give to the 'soulers,' as it would cut down on their hours of prayers, before their kin could go on to one of the H places, depending on his or her life-style beforehand. Apparently it didn't matter who said the prayers.

So when you hand out the calories to the tot on your step, all dressed up in his fifty dollar Nintendo suit, hollaring "Trick or Treat!" at the urging of some adult back in the shadows, you are really paying him to say a few prayers for your dear departed. But you will not be surprised if he forgets, eh?

I think Halloween is fun. For young and old. Never mind the old traditions. It's enough that kids and some of us old kids have fun on All Hallows' Eve. I favor the spooky parts, the cats'n'bats, witches and brooms, owls and howls, Jack'o'Lanterns and creaking doors. I can take a few spooks and flickering candles, and lots of kids in costumes; especially the Mom-made kind, or, if the kid is a little older, made-it-himself kind. And he should go with a small bag, not a gunnysack.

My mother used to ask the little goblins to sing a song for their treats, and I think that is a good idea, also. Lets them know they have to put out a little, too.

I suspect the very nicest part of Halloween is the evening when it doesn't snow, or blow or rain, is reasonably mild, and everyone gets home safe and sound. And with treats.

Letter to the Editor

Taxes up, teacher cut, new school?

Dear Editor:

The following is a copy of a letter sent by the F.G. Miller high School PTA to Honorable Jim Dinning, Minister of Education.

Dear Honorable Mr. Dinning:

It is with great frustration that we wish to express our concerns regarding your position on the establishment of the distinct francophone school in St. Paul. We realize that you supported the decision of St. Paul Public School District No. 2228 in meeting the demands of S.P.E.F. but the overwhelming majority of ratepayers in this area are very upset and concerned for the following reasons:

1. An excellent program of French Immersion and French Minority programs are already in place in the public school system that was applauded and supported by parents and taxpayers alike. The county has made provisions since 1983 for those few families wishing exclusive French education by funding tuition and boarding costs to attend school in Gravelbourg, Saskatchewan.

2. The timing of this decision was inappropriate. It was made without foresight, no clear regulations exist regarding costs, funding or pre-requisites for educational programming. The limited number of students enrolled in the distinct facility will make cost effectiveness and program depth and breadth unattainable. Have you given any consideration to additional transportation costs? At present, students attending the distinct facility are requesting express service because the existing bus transportation takes too long. However, students attending the public school system have and are experiencing bus rides of equal or longer length. Does this mean that express service is available for these students as well? And, is your department prepared to assume the cost?

3. Parents are worried that the existing French minority programs, desired by the vast majority of the minority, in the public school system will be forfeited, forcing their children to attend the distinct facility to boost that enrollment and justify its existence.

4. In the past you have publicly supported equity in the school system meaning that no matter where a student obtains his/her education the cost should be the same. In view of this how do you intend to contain the high costs of maintaining a distinct facility? Under the present funding formula our children in the public school system will bear the brunt. They will be the victims of a fiscal squeeze that will result in higher taxes and reduced educational services to pay for the "rights" of the minority in the segregated French school. This is unacceptable and will not be tolerated by the overwhelming majority of ratepayers in the County of St. Paul.

Last year our county raised taxes while implementing teacher cut backs of 10 percent. They are experiencing another deficit this year. We are an agriculture based economy and cannot survive another tax hike that will result in even poorer educational services for our children. It is understood that we must abide by Section No. 23 of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms but we do not want this to be at the expense of our children in the public school system.

Awaiting your response.

Sincerely yours

Diana L. Anderson, Chairperson

Environment tips

Slippery sidewalks and driveways! Use kitty litter or sand. Salt can pollute water supplies and waterways, and is detrimental to grass and plants near the sidewalk.

Lawn fertilizers (without weed killers) are also ideal and will give your grass an early boost in the spring.

In Memoriam

GARNIER, Louis J.

In memory of Louis J. Garnier, who passed away on November 2, 1986.

Gone, dear Father; gone forever.

How we miss your smiling face.
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.

A happy home we once enjoyed -
How sweet the memory still -
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Always remembered, sadly missed.

Louise and Keith Larson

In loving memory of

PAULINE CHUBEY who passed away October 19, 1990

Sweet memories will linger forever
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving memory of you.
Sadly missed by Husband Harry and children Marie, Michael and Connie

LOVING MEMORIES

Vincent William Joseph Lawrence October 30, 1989

Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all
The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true
And bitter was the trail to part
From one so good as you
You are not forgotten Vincent
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.
Your loving wife Olga, your sons and their families.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone who has called or written and continues to help us at this time. Thanks to all friends and acquaintances who have sent flowers, cards and donations. Thanks also for your prayer support.
Thank you to the ladies at the Baptist Church for the lunch and to Pastor Jim for his support. Thanks also to Yewchin's Funeral Home.
Family and friends are a true blessing and a comfort when we lose a loved one.

STARSCOPE

By Eileen Norby

The most distant known planet in our solar system is Pluto. Pluto affects us on an unconscious level. We usually cannot direct its energy consciously, but instead respond to it emotionally and intensely. Scorpio is ruled by Pluto. Pluto is not concerned with individual matters so much as it is with universal conditions. In fact, Pluto has no qualms about destroying an individual in order to bring about a necessary evolution; thus, it is called "the destroyer". Pluto in Scorpio have similar characteristics. It is interesting to note that Scorpio has immense power. You will try and control and manipulate other people, or forces of nature. Women in Scorpio are often attracted to men who project an image of power. This could mean fascination with the mean, rough type of man, men of few words, strongly emotional, smoldering, intense. Like Clark Gable: "Frankly my dear, I don't give a damn." So, in short, you like the cruel and abusive man; because Scorpio is transformation, it's quite likely that you will try to transform the man in your life. Once you make up your mind to do something, you will either achieve it or die trying. You have tremendous drive. You are ruthless in pursuit of your goals. You show no mercy to anything in your way. On the other hand, you are extremely emotional and highly sensitive, though you hide it from others. You can hurt very deeply but refuse to share your feelings. You are pathologically secretive and no one knows what goes on inside of you. You throw yourself completely into a relationship. You and your partner become one entity, therefore, if the affair ends you are devastated. It's as if you lost a piece of yourself. You are jealous, possessive, domineering, authoritarian, and manipulative. God help those when you feel betrayed. You will seek revenge ruthlessly. Yet you are a genius with human understanding, motivations and weaknesses. You are intrigued by what lies beneath the surface. You are an extremist in all you do, Scorpio.

ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19

You are out in active service tonight. The witches and goblins are sneaking around the streets of St. Paul. Beware! You are ready for a fresh start. It no longer suffices to leave it to others. Recent loss due to theft results in a surprising revelation.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20

Differentiate between generosity and extravagance. Be versatile. Attract others through good humor. Watch your diet and especially your nutritional needs. You get busy and forget food. You are intense and sentimental lately. You're capable of working well, especially as a deadline nears.

GEMINI
May 21 - Jun. 20

You are very happy, everything has come up "roses". Trust your own judgement. Keep life simple and uncomplicated. You are travelling with accelerated pace. Soon it will be time to come home and rest awhile. Frivolous versus practical could be the trend. The preferences of others should be taken to heart and understood.

CANCER
Jun. 22 - Jul. 22

Take care of losing control. Persistence could pay off with a lucky streak. Yesterday's praise may become today's blame. Take what comes with calm and vow to do better. Welcome one who keeps you on your toes but watch carefully in all you do. Festivities are very bright for Halloween.

LEO
Jul. 23 - Aug. 22

Get that lion's suit out and have fun this Halloween night. Your vivid imagination inspires fancy. The mystical attracts you. Last-minute shopping keeps you busy. Children are so much fun, so let yourself go! If you are asked for your opinion, give it freely. Harmony reigns on the home front.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22

Where family matters are concerned, present a united front. Take care not to let family secrets slip. Allow a friend the benefit of the doubt. Otherwise, you may put the friendship in jeopardy. Seek a way out. Try to be patient even if you're insistent. Make your way determinedly.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 23

Success indicated through cooperation. Emphasize showmanship. Get better display products to help you. Long distance call could make a difference. Keep things in the dark, at least for now. Enemies try and stop your progress. Your loss could be another's gain. Regret nothing, but do nothing to regret.

SCORPIO
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Act according to principles learned in childhood. You can make a point without malice. You would do well to swim with the tide. All you can do is offer your services and cast bread upon the waters. Changes again appear in residence, whether a move or remodelling.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21

Stress is on independence with your own style. Love and marriage figure prominently. Be thankful for small favors. Unexpected promise is wonderful. Work piles up with rotten weather. You have accomplished much, so there won't be a lot to leave. Always seek peace on the domestic scene. Seek a new source of knowledge.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Will you never change, Cappy? Your surroundings will change soon. A business-as-usual day. You'd love to chuck it for other temptations and personal matters, though nothing happens. Life's small events bring great pleasure. Keep your ear to the ground; what you hear today could help tomorrow.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Your gift for the spoken word may get you into difficulties. It may also get you out of them. Your work is an interesting outlet today; it increases the family income, if for no other reason. Focus on new faces, new places, new aspects of your work. Routine spoils results.

PISCES
Feb. 20 - Mar. 20

Your ability to adapt keeps you running free. Spend more time working out original solutions to old problems. Your excellent head for business finds a way out of a financial slump, which surprises you! A visit to an old haunt stirs up old memories. Don't be afraid to appear sentimental. Drop your high standards for five minutes.

A Clean Air Strategy for Alberta:

It's helping to clear the air

It's time for fresh thinking about clean air.

The Government of Alberta has launched several major initiatives to protect the air we breathe. And the government continues to work vigorously on solutions ranging from the control of acid-forming emissions to assessing the impact of greenhouse gases.

Now these efforts are being taken one step farther. Alberta Energy and Alberta Environment are working together on a new initiative called the Clean Air Strategy for Alberta which is designed to look at emissions resulting from energy production and use.

The Government of Alberta is committed to ensuring that all Albertans have an opportunity to provide input on this important matter. That is why Regional Sessions are being held across the province in November and December.

The Regional Sessions will include an Open House in the afternoon where Albertans can look at displays and meet with representatives of environmental groups, industry and government. In the evening, Albertans will have the opportunity to present their views.

Here's how you can participate.

To ensure that your views are made known to the Government of Alberta, you are encouraged to:

- ▲ read the Clean Air Strategy for Alberta fact sheets
- ▲ attend the Open House portion of the Regional Session near you

- ▲ register to make a presentation during the public input portion of the Regional Session, or

- ▲ submit your comments or suggestions in a written brief to the Clean Air Strategy for Alberta office before January 15, 1991.

The final report of the Clean Air Strategy for Alberta will include information gathered from the Regional Sessions and the written briefs.

You're invited.

The Regional Session for Bonnyville and the surrounding area will be held:
Tuesday, November 6

Fabulous fashions for fall

Heinsburg may be small in population, but it was very big on fashion last Thursday evening, when the members of Heinsburg Community Club sponsored their first ever Fashion Show. The evening was an overwhelming success, with 28 models showing a wide range of attire for all occasions, local residents providing excellent entertainment, draws for a wealth of door prizes, and club members serving up a sumptuous buffet lunch, in the attractively decorated setting of their newly enlarged and refurbished hall.

The evening started with opening remarks from Mistress of Ceremonies Grace Meger, who introduced commentators Sandra Bishop and Barb Croteau, and expressed thanks to makeup artists Kathy Lovell and Wanda Cochrane and hair stylists Annette Ference and Karen Derewynka. Following a solo by Marmie Quinney, the talents of these ladies were again put to use, as Kirsten Vinge was introduced as the evening's 'makeover model.'

The first section of fashion featured lingerie, from slinky satins to fuzzy nightwear for cold winter nights. Two rather unusual models were part of this section, seeming to be an old couple who wandered in on their way to bed, who displayed the only garments of the show which were NOT available at Jeannine's Fashions, Elk Point. Jeannine Boratynec, proprietor of that particular treasure chest of ladies' wear in sizes for virtually every figure, was introduced and welcomed those present to come in and see her collection for themselves.

Also introduced was Joyce Nychporuk, who was instrumental in planning the event.

Following a number of door prize draws and an opportunity to visit the buffet and tables displaying jewelry and perfume, Henry Botting took the stage to entertain with a pair of vocal selections.

Then it was on to casual wear, with bright jewel colors predominating, and styles to suit everyone. Most items in this section were coordinates, which could be worn in many different combinations for more fashion mileage.

More door prizes and songs from Audrey Rainey were followed by afternoon wear, with more bright colors, interspersed with black and white, in fabrics ranging from silks to sueded, sheers to denim, in this comprehensive collection for all daytime occasions, from work to weddings.

Henry Botting was called back for more country-style solos, and more draws were made, before the most exciting section of the show hit the walkway. Evening wear featured metallics, brocades, sparkles and sequins, satins, chiffons, knits and velvets, styled with pleats, peplums, ruffles and boleros—everything for the upcoming winter social season, whether one wears size 4 or 44.

Then Kirsten was back—a newly glamorous Kirsten, looking not at all like the small town girl who stepped into the changing room two hours earlier. Dressed in the latest evening wear, her hair and makeup enhanced by expert hands, this girl was nothing short of gorgeous.

Marmie Quinney provided the final vocal styling of the evening, then led in the parade of models, all looking their best in fashions from Jeannine's. Draws were then made for the evening's grand prize of a necklace and earrings, with Siri Lorensen the lucky winner, and for the sweater draw, won by Melinda Boratynec.

Other winners throughout the evening were: Ruth Brake, Laura Rainey, Amy Dion, Desiree Maas, Doris Anderson, Grace Meger, Joanne Sharkey, Marie Hines, Liz Zayac, Tanya Peters, Stacy Reed, Gayla Klutz, Linda Ference, Bertha Botting, Sandra Cameron, Eva Clack, Annie George, Linda Belsheim, Linda Moore, Bertha Pelletier, Hazel Daniels and Myrna Reinhart. Prizes, ranging from gift certificates to jewelry, flower arrangements and fragrance, were donated by: Jeannine's Fashions, Mike's Trading Post, Myrna Reinhart, Colleen Sharkey, Patsy Zarowny, Single Styles, Creative Crafts, Business and Leisure Travel, John Rosychuk, Heinsburg Community Club, Shereen Naidoo, Helen's Fashion Jewellery, Double J, Judy Jenner and Dewberry Golden Scissors.

Creative Crafts also provided the lovely floral arrangements which decorated the hall.

Modelling the clothing were: Sheila McGillis, Doreen Cardinal, Vina Fluney, Melinda Ibister, Linda Ibister, Kathy Botting, Marie Hines, Elizabeth Didow, Raylene Gunderson, Rosalie Bristow, Amy Dion, Linda Ference, Joely Jenner, Peggy Adomaitis, Shannon Espedveit, Arlene Bendixen, Loretta Smuk, Marmie Quinney, Denise Abraham, Nina Daniels, Ruby Hanna, Faye Somerville, Vera Romanchuk, Mim McCollum, Lori Best, Leona Peters, Diane Wolanuk and Kirsten Vinge.

A Bevy Of Beauties

A total of 28 lovely models displayed fashions from Jeannine's fall collection to a large crowd at Heinsburg last Thursday evening.

Songstress

Marmie Quinney was one of three talented local singers who provided entertainment for the fashion show. Audrey Rainey and Henry Botting also contributed solos to the program.

Frivolous Nightwear

These bizarre outfits were part of the Lingerie section, but we were glad to learn these outfits are NOT available from Jeannine's.

Country Girl To Glamor Girl
